Ruby Valley Medical Clinics Plan for a New Arrival

The Ruby Valley Medical Clinics are expecting a special arrival by the middle of March of 2014. Physician Assistant Kathy Tetrault and her husband, Dustin, are eagerly awaiting the arrival of their first child. The baby may well receive the blessing of the Irish with a birthdate of March 17th.

Kathy will be taking maternity leave for twelve weeks. “I’m encouraging my patients to schedule their routine check-ups for January and February. I will be working until March 14th, unless the baby has a different timetable,” said Kathy. She has assured her patients that there will be no lapse in excellent medical coverage during her leave. Dr. Roman Hendrickson and Nurse Practitioner, Chris Hartsfield, will be filling in for Kathy during her brief hiatus.

The Ruby Valley Medical Clinics have been working to replace Pat Watson, PA-C, since he moved to Florida last summer to be closer to his family. “We’ve interviewed some excellent candidates and hope to be filling the position soon,” said Dr. Hendrickson. He is confident that the Clinics will be fully staffed before the commencement of Kathy’s maternity leave.

The staffs of Ruby Valley Hospital and Ruby Valley Medical Clinics send Kathy and Dustin their best wishes for a smooth delivery and the beginning of their adventures in parenthood!
